Art Unit: 3632

This is an office action for serial number 10/732,742.

Response to Amendment

The finality of that action has been withdrawn base on further consideration of the cited references.

Allowable Subject Matter

The indicated allowability of claims 5, 10, 11, 18, 22, and 23 is withdrawn as a result of further review and consideration by the examiner. Rejections based on the cited reference(s) follow.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 6, 7, 10, 13-15, 20, 21, and 23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Dobrovolny 6,042,541 in view of Tashiro 4,599,011. Dobrovolny discloses a rod (102), a housing/receiving unit (104) or a clamping mechanism (108) having a bore/socket, a force providing/actuating mechanism (110), a handle (118). Dobrovolny discloses all of the limitations of the claimed invention except for the rotatable wedge and the frusto-conical surface. Tashiro discloses a clamp housing (21) having a internal cavity (through the center) which constricts, a force providing/actuating mechanism (11) having a rotatable wedge (14), a surgical rod member (2). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to have modified Dobrovolny to have modified the clamp to have the clamp housing which constricts and force providing/actuating mechanism as taught by Tashiro for the purpose of providing a better means of attaching the members together. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to have modified Dobrovolny to have modified the bore to having a frusto-conical surface wherein the housing has a frusto-conical surface and the surgical apparatus has a frusto-conical surface being correspondingly shaped to mate with each other since such a modification would have involved a mere change in the shape of a component. A change in shape is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art since the applicant has not shown how the chosen shape is critical and would not produce any unexpected results or destroy the function of the invention.

Art Unit: 3632

Art Unit: 3632

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to the claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
